

2012 Crop Quality Seminars

The presenters and the U.S. Wheat staff are happy to invite and welcome you on behalf of the U.S. wheat producers to the 2012 Crop Quality Seminars. During this year's tour we will visit ten cities in eight European countries.

This event will provide you with updates on this year's quality characteristics of the various wheat classes of the new U.S. crop and on the world wheat supply and demand situation. The seminar will take about two to three hours and will be followed by an informal luncheon / reception function.

Below please find a table including the schedule of the 2012 Crop Quality Seminars indicating starting time and venue.
